

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

BOOK REVIEWS.

The Lawyers' Reports Annotated. New Series. Book 18. Burdett A. Rich, Henry P. Farnham, Editors. 1909. Rochester, N. Y. The Lawyers' Co-Operative Publishing Company. Price, $4.00.

The present volume of L. R. A. is full of cases of interest and importance and the notes keep up the splendid record of the editors. A note on "Extra-territorial effect of decree of divorce rendered upon constructive service" continues and brings up to date the admirable note on same subject in vol. 59, p. 162, etc., and is of distinct value.

A question of much novelty is treated in the note upon "Subsequent conduct of injured person in its relation to proximate cause, as distinguished from contributory negligence." A note upon "Release of endorser of note by failure to enforce liability of maker," is exhaustive and valuable; and one upon "When confession is voluntary" contains a wealth of annotation. This note is upon Ammons v. State, known as the "Sweat-box case," a perusal of which fills the mind with horror and dismay that in a civilized community such barbarity on the part of officers of justice should be allowed.

The American and English Annotated Cases—containing the important cases selected from the current American, Canadian and English Reports. Thoroughly annotated. Edited by William McKinney, Editor of Encyclopedia of Practice, etc., and David S. Garland, Editor of American and English Encyclopedia of Law, and H. Noyes Greene. Vol. 12. Edward Thompson Company. Northport, L. I., N. Y. 1909. Price, $5.00.

The excellent quality of this series of annotated reports is well kept up in the present volume. The selection, as well as annotation, of cases shows not only discrimination but careful research. In the notes, conciseness, as well as clearness, mark the work. We have lately had occasion to use this last volume in connection with a case of some novelty arising from a question as to the responsibility of school teachers. We obtained a ready and satisfactory solution of the question from the notes to Mansell v. Griffin, an English case reported on p. 350. We find that this selection from the English and Canadian cases is an admirable feature of these admirable reports.